What is the Open Call for Events?

Autograph's Open Call for Events offers emerging creatives a paid opportunity to stage an event at our gallery. Having launched in 2018 the programme provides a space and resources to develop an idea into a live event.

We welcome proposals that enter a spirit of exchange and learning together. We're interested to hear your ideas that bring new perspectives and voices to our programme.

In return, Autograph's experienced staff will work with you to:

- Develop the event concept.
- Produce and deliver the event.
- Access Autograph's building and resources.
- Write engaging event copy to be shared on our website and social media channels.
- Market your event successfully to Autograph's audiences and the wider public.

Brief

We are looking for an emerging creative to produce an in-person event at Autograph's gallery in Hackney, London in summer/autumn 2025. The event will take place as part of the public programme for Autograph's current exhibitions.

In her new photographic commission, Twenty-Two, Eileen Perrier explores generational perspectives on change and self-discovery. Whether transitioning from youth to adulthood or entering new phases of life, these striking portraits of Perrier's son and his childhood friends document their evolving identities, emerging independence, and the complexities of relationships as they navigate adulthood. Dianne Minnicucci similarly contemplates exchange across generations in Belonging and Beyond, a new series of portraits of herself and her young son. Together they navigate creative agency and the vulnerability of being seen. Using these works as a jumping off point, your event should explore themes of collaboration, identity and belonging across generations.

Your event proposal could focus on the artists and exhibitions featured, or explore the theme of intergenerational perspectives more broadly. For example, this could include creative workshops, live dialogues between generations, or storytelling events that explore identity, memory, and belonging across age groups. The format of the event might be a workshop, talk, or lecture. Please note that we are currently unable to facilitate film screenings. We strongly recommend that your application clearly outlines why a speaker would want to take part in the event, and details your existing or proposed working relationship. We also welcome proposals that feature dynamic, mixed-format events.

The event can appeal to a range of audiences but must be scalable for Autograph's event space which can comfortably host a maximum of 30 people. The event should be engaging and appropriate for the intended audience.

If you have any questions about the brief, don't hesitate to get in touch with Harriet at learning@autograph-abp.co.uk

Opportunity Description

This is a paid opportunity, with a focus on professional development. The successful applicant will work with Autograph to develop their knowledge of how a public programme is produced. They will be supported by the events and marketing team and receive support in budgeting, copywriting and logistics of programming an event. Autograph staff will provide administrative support, guidance and advice on best practise for events programming, meetings with events and marketing teams and provide constructive feedback about the event.

The successful proposal will receive a £410 programming fee for the planning and delivery of the event. Rates of pay for this opportunity coincide with the Artists Union England rates for a 'new graduate artist' in 2025.

The fee can be broken down in to 15 hours of work outlined below:

5 hours	Meetings with Autograph staff
5 hours	Administrative time
5 hours	On the day event delivery

The successful applicant will receive £620 to cover the event costs. Autograph will provide funds outside of the event budget to support access.

Example budget:

Speaker 1	£160
Speaker 2	£160
Speaker 3	£160
Materials	£120
TOTAL	£600

What do we do?

Established in 1988, Autograph's mission is to share the work of artists who use photography and film to highlight questions of race, representation, human rights and social justice. Through doing so, we invite people to explore the creative and critical power of visual representation, in shaping our understanding of ourselves and of others. We achieve this by:

- Commissioning artists and writers; making and sharing exhibitions and publications both in the UK and internationally.
- Sharing our unique photography collection which is used for research, learning, participation, and lending purposes.
- Supporting professional development of artists through providing advice, information, mentoring and selective hosting of projects.
- Producing talks, events and workshops through which people can listen, learn engage in debate and take part in creative making.

At Autograph we are very committed to welcoming, understanding and serving our audiences. Currently we are seeking to appeal particularly to young people, first time visitors, people with disabilities and visitors who haven't felt that a place like Autograph is for them.

Our Values

To foster informed enquiry and personal creative development, promote respect for and appreciation of difference, encourage empathy and reciprocity in our partnerships and interactions and act ethically towards people and the environment. These values inform our professional practice, activities and how we work both internally and externally.

Frequently Asked Questions

Can I apply to put on an exhibition of works at Autograph?

No, this is not an exhibition opportunity.

Who can apply to the open call?

This opportunity is intended to support emerging cultural practitioners. Applicants can be of any age. We understand 'emerging' to cover people with less than 3 years of experience working in creative industries or events programming, which includes those who have not developed an event of any kind before. The selection process will prioritise emerging practitioners.

Do I need to be based in London to apply?

Yes. Due to budget and capacity, we are hosting a one day, in-person event taking place at Autograph's building in Hackney, London. We will cover travel costs associated with travel within London.

Can I propose an event to take place on a specific date?

Yes, however please bear in mind that Autograph runs a busy programme of activity so a specific date can't always be guaranteed.

What would the budget cover?

Autograph will commit a budget of up to £620 to cover AV, materials, and contributor fees. Your proposed event or activity therefore needs to be of a suitable scale to fit this budget. Autograph's programming team will provide successful applicants with support around developing their event in line with the budget. As a guideline, Autograph offers contributors a fee of £160 for short events (up to 3.5 hours). In addition to the budget, Autograph also offers successful applicants a £410 curatorial fee. Autograph will provide funds outside of the curatorial fee and event costs to support any access needs.
